

Halloween story

It was a cold Halloween night, Livia and Harry, two 12 years old kids, were walking in the street. It was 8 o'clock the mood was creepy, the moon was full and the wind was strong. The kids were happy to have collected a lot of candies. You have to know that Harry was shy but really kind with others. Both of them were going back to their house.

When they arrived they decided to watch a horror movie and have some popcorn . A few minutes later the two kids heard the phone ringing. Livia stood up and answered. She said “hello ?” but nothing was heard and after she hung up and went back to watching the movie. 5 minutes later the phone rang again. This time, Harry answered and a man said “I see you through the Window”.

Harry hung up immediately and ran to join Livia. He told her what he heard and the 2 children looked out the Windows . (The) man that followed them in the street was in the window watching them. They were terrified. They went to hide in their rooms and they hear(d) something falling in the closet. They opened the closet and the Man was there.

Harry and Livia ran as fast as they could to seek refuge at someone's house. The man followed them closely but the 2 children were very fast so they arrived at their neighbors' before the man. They were saved.

For the moment
